Republican State Convention.

HARRISBURG, April 16, 1867.

The "Republican State Convention" will meet at the "Herdic House," Williamsport, on Wednesday, the 26th of June next, at 10 o'clock A. M., to nominate a candidate for Judge of the Supreme Court, and to initiate proper measures for the ensuing State Canvass.

As heretofore, the Convention will be composed of Representative and Senatorial Delegates, chosen in the usual way, and equal in number to the whole of the Senators and Representatives in the General Assembly.

By order of the State Central Committee.

F. JORDAN, Chairman.

GEO. W. HAMERSLY, A. W. BENEDICT, J. ROBERT DUNGLISON, } Secretaries.

Republican Primary Meetings.

Pursuant to a Joint Resolution of the County Committees, the Republican voters of Crawford County will meet at the places of holding election in their respective districts,

FRIDAY, JUNE 21, 1867,

between the hours of one and seven o'clock P. M., to nominate candidates for the following offices:

One person for State Senator.
Two persons for Assembly.
One person for County Treasurer.
One person for Commissioner.
One person for Auditor.
One person for Jury Commissioner.

The return Judges of the several districts will meet in the Court House, in Meadville, on Tuesday, June 25th, at one o'clock P. M., to announce the result of said election, and also to appoint a County Committee composed of one member from each election district, and to transact such other business as may properly come before them. A. HUIDEKOPER, Chairman.

Beauties of the Jury System.

In a debate upon the Jury bill in the Legislature of Massachusetts, R. H. Dana, Jr., related the following story illustrating the untrustworthiness of juries, and showing that sometimes men will seek places as jurors solely for the purpose of preventing the rendition of a verdict in accordance with the law and the evidence. The fact that the delinquent juror's sympathies were on the side of freedom and abstract right, does not detract from the value of the lesson. Mr. Dana said:

I was of counsel for Lewis Hayden, (a colored man, and now the Governor's messenger,) who was indicted under the fugitive slave law for assisting in the rescue of one Shadrach, a fugitive slave. Shadrach was in the United States Court room in Boston, when a mob of white and colored persons rushed into the apartment, took the prisoner from the custody of the officers and carried him safely off through the streets of Boston, thence through Cambridge and other parts of Middlesex county to New Hampshire, and so on to Canada.

Lewis Hayden was arrested for being concerned in the affair, and was put upon his trial for the offense. The District Attorney, when the jury was about to be empannelled, asked the court to put substantially the following questions to each juryman: "Have you formed such an opinion of the unconstitutionality of the fugitive slave law as would prevent you from finding a prisioner guilty under it?" This question was objected to by Hayden's counsel, and much time was consumed in arguing the propriety and rightfulness of putting such an interrogatory.—The court finally decided that the question should be put. Some of the persons called as jurors had formed such opinions and were set aside; others were in doubt and they also were set aside. After a long list of persons had been gone through with, twelve individuals were found who made satisfactory answers, and they were accordingly sworn as jurors.

The case then proceeded, and the witnesses for the government successively put upon the stand. The evidence against Hayden was very strong indeed, and it seemed to the counsel that an acquittal under the circumstances would be almost impossible. The case was contested, however, inch by inch, and all was done that could be done to save the prisoner. The arguments for and against, having been made, the Judge charged the Jury. This charge was the worst possible one (for the prisoner) that could have been made, inasmuch as it was an "impartial" one. If the Judge had only charged against the accused, there might have been some hope for him, as there is always a feeling of opposition excited in the minds of jurymen by such a course of procedure.

At the close of the address of the Judge, then the last hope died, and the case was given up as lost. Retiring from the Court House for an hour or two, the counsel returned expecting that a verdict of guilty had long before been rendered. What was their surprise to find that the jury had not agreed! Going again in the course of a few hours, the same story was told. The jury was sent for and came into Court. Inquiry was made as to whether instructions were desired. No, none was needed. Several hours later they were once more brought in, and the foreman declared that it was impossible for them to agree. They were then discharged. It was soon known that they had stood from first to last 11 to 1.

Having been invited to deliver a political speech in a town situated upon the outskirts of Middlesex county, some years after the trial of Hayden, I proceeded to fulfill the engagement. After the meeting had adjourned, a man came forward and desired to be introduced to me. Said he, "You do not remember me, perhaps?" "No," I replied, "your face is not familiar." "I was a juryman once in a case that you tried." "Very likely," was the reply; "but I have tried many cases. What was the case you referred to?" "It was the case of Lewis Hayden, for rescuing Shadrach," said he. "Ah! then I suspect that you are the man who would not agree to a verdict of guilty." "Yes, I am the very man; and, more than that, I am the man who received Shadrach from Hayden on the day of his rescue, and drove him over the New Hampshire line!"

Old Knapsacks.

The following beautiful extract is from a letter of "a woman in Washington," to the N. Y. Independent.

"I saw a pile of knapsacks the other evening at the cottage on Fourth street; knapsacks and haversacks left behind for safe keeping by the boys who went to the front and never came back. The eloquence of these worm-eaten and moulded bags cannot be written. Here was a piece of stony bread, uneaten, the little paper of coffee, the smoked tin cup in which it had been boiled so often over the hasty fire on the eve of battle. There was the letter, sealed, directed and never sent, for the soldiers could not always get even a stamp. Here was a letter half written, commencing, "Dear Wife: How I want to see you." "Dear Mother: My time is nearly out." The rusty pen, just as it was laid down in the half-filled sheet by the gallant and loving hand which hoped so soon to finish it. Here was a scrap of patriotic poetry, and inspired lyrics carefully copied on sheets of paper tinted with red, white and blue. Here were photographs of the favorite Generals, and photographs of the dear ones at home. Here were letters of heart-breaking love, and loyalty to duty, and holy faith and cheer, written at home; and here was the Testament given him by the woman he loved best, soiled and worn. For the American soldier, if he rarely reads it, still he would carry his Testament as a dear talisman to save him from harm. Here were those mementoes of brave, living, loving life gone out. They never came back! The mourners at home do not all know where they fell, or whether they were buried. To one unfamiliar with the soldier's life, these relics might mean little. To me they mean all love, all suffering, all heroism. I look on them, and again seem to me the long lines of marching men file past, dust-covered and warm on their way to battle. I see the roads of Virginia simmering in the white heat, lined with exhausted men lying down to sleep and to die, after the last defeat, hear the cry of the wounded, the moan of the dying, see the half-filled grave, the unburied dead. All the awful reality of war comes back. So, too, do knightly days and dauntless men. Peace walks amid the May time flowers, and already our soldiers seem almost forgotten. Days of war and deeds of valor seem like dreams gone by."

In the days of the famous Ethan Allen, of Vermont, lawyers were scarce, and gentlemen who were not of the profession acted as counsel. Allen was often employed in this way, and on one occasion the opposing lawyer quoted Blackstone, whereupon old Ethan threw stones in this terrible fashion: "I would have the young gentleman know that, with my logic and reasoning from the eternal fitness of things, I can upset his black stones, his white stones, his gravestones and his brimstones."

Muscular Development of Women.

From the New York Commercial Advertiser.

The ladies of Warwick, England, have organized a Boating Club, and propose hereafter to compete with the sterner sex upon the picturesque and classic Avon. There is no reason why the English women, who are fond of the chase, and delight in fishing and pedestrian tours, and other out door exercises, should not aspire to a skillful use of the oar. We shall not be surprised, therefore, to see them generally taking like ducks to the water, and, in time, challenging the world for a wherry race or regatta contest.

It is a matter of congratulation that the out-door sports which impart robust constitutions and ruddy countenances to the gentler sex of England, are becoming yearly more popular among our American women. The effeminate customs of other years are giving way to a fondness for horsemanship, skating, croquet, &c., and, as a result, we witness a decided improvement in the constitutions of our women. They are becoming more and more convinced that physical delicacy, enervation, effeminacy and hot house drawing room confinement, do not impart genuine beauty and attraction to them. They are learning that a pretty face is, in man's estimation, no compensation for a frail constitution and numberless doctor's bill's.

We have strong, active men, and we want strong, active women, who are not always complaining of excessive fatigue, and lack of vitality; women who do not always keep a running account with physicians, and have to be "patched up" and dosed year in and year out; women who are not afraid to shoulder responsibility, and bear their share of life's burden; women, in short, who are fitted by physical as well as mental training and development to become what their Maker intended them to be—helpmates for man.

And to this end it is to be hoped that the spirit of reform will continue to grow and prevail among them. Those who exercise an influence in molding and shaping the customs of society should foster and develop this spirit. The managers of our Female Educational Institutes should imitate the example now being set by the New England Colleges, and provide liberal means for physical training and development. Preachers and teachers have it in their power to achieve a vast amount of good to humanity in this respect. Said an eminent Methodist Divine of this city not long since: "If I could have my way, I would have a ten-pin alley attached to every church yard in the country, where boys and girls might develop themselves physically during week days, and thus become the better prepared to receive spiritual training on the Sabbath."

This suggestion will strike most people as being decidedly novel, to say the least. It, however, reveals an appreciation of the importance of devoting more attention to physical culture and development, which we should be glad to find prevailing generally among educators and molders of public opinion.

A New Theory of the Tides.

From the Toronto Leader.

The phenomenon of the tides has only been recently attributed to the moon, but the theory of the tide on the side of the earth opposite the moon has never yet been satisfactorily explained. Prof. Sullivan, with other geographers, explains it as owing to the body of the earth being drawn away by the attraction of the moon, leaving the waters behind as a tide. But a young Canadian author, Mr. E. S. Wiggins, now claims the honor of having discovered the true theory, as appears from a recent article in the Picton Times. After showing the futility of the idea that the earth is drawn toward the moon by such a small body, which, however, it never approaches, he gives the following explanation. "On looking at a map of the world, it will be seen that two great ridges of lands, on nearly opposite sides of the earth, formed by the great continents, intersects the watery world from north to south.

"Now, the moon passing transversely over these in her western course, owing to the rotary motion of the earth toward the east, creates a tidal wave in the Atlantic, extending along the meridian of Western Africa and Europe. This follows the moon westward, but can continue no farther than the coast of the new world. Here, from the resistance it receives, and its tendency to seek an equilibrium, it is reflected back, and is crossing the Atlantic by the time the moon has originated a similar wave on the opposite side of the earth in the Pacific." This, he thinks, is plainly proved by the fact that, as has long been the source of marvel, the tides never appear but once every twenty-four hours south of Cape Horn, or the Cape of Good Hope, owing, he opines, to the continent not extending far enough south to reflect the tidal wave. All this seems plausible, when it is considered that in the mid-ocean the tides never rise higher than five feet, and that they are always later on the eastern coast of Great Britain than on the western, which all admit to result from the motion of the tidal wave toward the east.

Two men charged with being horse-thieves were killed—one of them hung and the other shot—on the highway, near Fayetteville, Arkansas, a few days since. It turned out afterward that they were honest traders from Missouri, basely murdered by the men into whose hands they fell.

A man named Osborn, while on his way from Sheldrake to Ithaca in a sail boat, on Cayuga Lake, accidentally upset his boat and was drowned. He had $5,000 on his person, which he intended depositing at Ithaca.

OIL CITY, PA., April 27.

Jefferson Fosse, an employee of the Allegheny Valley Railroad, was killed this morning opposite this place by an embankment caving in on him. His remains were sent home for burial.

LONDON, Sunday evening, April 28.

The general conference of European Powers to settle the difficulty between France and Prussia will meet in London, May 15th. It has been agreed that in the meantime the fortress of Luxemburg shall be dismantled.

NEW YORK, April 27.

The steamer America, from Southampton the 16th, has arrived.

The Paris correspondent of the London Times believes some means will be found to reconciliate the conflicting pretensions of France and Prussia. The Press says, however, there is one point, and one only, which France cannot accept, that is the presence of Prussian soldiers in Luxemburg.

It is announced that a factory in France has finished 60,000 needle guns to the French Minister of War. This establishment is said to be in a position to be enabled to claim the premium of 50,000 francs offered by the Government for the completion of 100,000 rifles by the end of April.

The France says the news circulated about calling out the reserve is devoid of all foundation. The Gazette of France says: We are well informed that the Florence Cabinet has already caused it to be intimated to the French Government that in case of war between France and Prussia, Italy would be on the side of her allies of 1856. M. Rhalsoli, on the contrary, is inclined toward Prussia, and a Ministerial crisis, which is not quite over, though a Valzari Ministry is constituted, is said to have been occasioned, especially by the question of alliances

NEW YORK, April 28.

The new steamer Cambria, from Southampton the 17th, arrived early this morning

The Paris Press has a rumor that Bismark would resign in consequence of a difference between himself and the King; the latter being unwilling to accept the evacuation of Luxemburg on principle. It was said Count Vonder Galtz would succeed him.

Reports are current of the arrest of a Prussian officer by the French authorities at Thionwell, and an arrest by French officers at Mayence and London, but they were declared unfounded.

A circular from the French War Office fixes the price of exemption from military service at 3,000 francs during 1867, and each year remaining at 600 francs.

In the North German Parliament Bismark made a speech, announcing his concurrence in the amendment to the draft of the Federal Constitution by which the strength of the army on a peace footing should remain unaltered until the common Federal Code of Laws could be promulgated. He opposed the amendment that the next five years should be considered years of transaction, and that after that period the army on a peace footing should be maintained at the same strength as hitherto until the promulgation of the general code of laws, when the army expenses should nevertheless be fixed by a special law on the hitherto existing organization The amendment Bismark supported was rejected, 167 against 110, when Bismark urgently requested the House to pass an amendment which would leave the Government the choice of time for promulgating the common Federal code of laws, saying that unless this amendment was adopted, the Federal Government would not agree to the draft and the task of drawing up a constitution might possibly, at the last moment, be frustrated. Notwithstanding this amendment was rejected, 157 against 119. The amendment which Bismark opposed was then adopted, 202 against 80 All the remaining articles of the draft were then adopted.

The Polish members who had supported Bismark then resigned their seats in consequence, they said, of the failure of the last attempt to prevent an act of violence by this incorporation on the North German Confederation.

The Italian Government has given very strict orders to prevent or repress any attempt to violate Pontificial territory.

The Courier de Lyons confirms the statement of the dispatch of war material to the northeast of France.

A Berlin letter to the Times says: Russia seems favorably disposed to Prussia, while Austria affects neutrality. Prussian journals claim Luxemburg is German, though not belonging to the Confederacy. They also state that the Polish fortresses are being armed with rifled artillery.

LONDON, April 27.

Queen Victoria has written a letter to the King of Prussia in which she takes ground in favor of the recent and more under te propositions of France in regard to the disposition of Luxemburg, and advises him to accept the plan of compromise to which the Emperor Napoleon is not unwilling to accede to.

PARIS, April 27.

It is officially stated the Emperor expressed satisfaction with the negotiations now in progress for the settlement of the Luxemburg question.

LONDON, April 28.

At a late hour last night the Prussian Government signified, by telegraph, its acceptance of the proposition made by the Queen of England for a general conference at London of the Great Powers to settle the Luxemburg dispute by neutralization.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 27.

It is said the Russian Government will receive from the United States a fleet of iron-clads instead of the stipulated sum of money in payment of the cession of the Russian possessions in America.

NEW YORK, April 27.

The Herald says the Spanish steamer which left Vera Cruz on the 18th inst, three days later than our last advices, has arrived at Havana and reported that Puebla had been retaken by the Imperialist forces.

Food was plentiful at Vera Cruz when the steamer left, and the former reports of a scarcity were declared to be exaggerations.

The Herald's special says: At a public meeting of the citizens of Bardon county, Georgia, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That we view with deep regret the attempt of C. J. Jenkins to renew our difficulties and invite further legislation by the United States Congress.

Resolved, That having seen the desolation and suffering caused by such advisers in the past, we are determined by the assistance of our worthy District Commander, General Pope, that this people in the future shall ever show a willingness to abide by the decision of a majority of the voters of the United States and obey the laws given to them by Congress.

Resolved, That the class of politicians who have brought ruin upon our country are no longer worthy the support of a free people, and that their suggestions are only equaled in imprudence by their former attempt at secession, and that in the future we will trust our destiny in the hands alone of such men as are truly worthy of the Government of our fathers.

The Herald's Ireland correspondence says the emigrant exodus from Ireland to the United States is rapidly increasing to a full tide—nine steamships engaged in the transportation business having left Queenstown harbor alone within a few days.

The Times' special says the Treasury Department has been officially informed that within seven days, just passed, no less than forty thousand bushels of wheat have been shipped from Liverpool to New York.

Mr. Frank Cowan, son of ex-Senator Cowan, of Pennsylvania, has been appointed Special Secretary of President Johnson, and not J. F. B. Cowan.

It is reported that in consequence of repeated evidences of disloyalty, Fayetteville, N. C., is to have a garrison of United States soldiers located there. This is General Sickles' District, and is supposed to be by his orders.

At a meeting of the citizens of Atlanta, Ga., held recently, the following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, A plan of reconstruction has been tendered the South through the law-making power of our Government whereby peace may be restored to our weary and unhappy people, therefore,

Resolved, That in the opinion of this meeting reconstruction upon the plan proposed by Congress is decidedly preferable to remaining in our present unsettled and paralysed condition, and we cordially invite the whole people of Georgia to co-operate with us in accepting said legislation without protest, delay or hesitation.

The Tribune's special says the Department of State to-day received voluminous dispatches from our Ministers in England and France. While they do not contain as late advices as are daily brought by the Cable, they represent pretty fully the condition of affairs and show conclusively that a general European war can scarcely be avoided.

The Emperor Napoleon has been engaged for several months making gigantic naval and military preparations, and it is alleged that the feeling is now so universal among the French people for a collision that it has passed beyond the Emperor's control

PHILADELPHIA, April 27.

The postoffice at Lock Haven was broken into last night and robbed and the letters torn open.

NEW YORK, April 27.

The Tribune's special says: Surratt is not under control of the National Government, but is in charge of and held by the Marshal of the District of Columbia under the control of the Supreme Court.

The World's special says: It is believed Gen. Sheridan has telegraphed for permission to remove Governor Wells and Chief of Police Adams, but the Attorney General is of the opinion that he has no power under the Reconstruction act to make such removals.

The Attorney General is preparing an opinion on disfranchising clauses.

PARIS, April 27.

A rumor of the establishment of a Peace Congress which has prevailed to-day has had the effect of raising Rentes 1 franc. After business hours, however, the report was discredited and Rentes slightly declined

United States 5-20 bonds quoted at 77¼.

WASHINGTON, April 27

The health of Thaddeus Stevens is much improved. He expects to leave for Pennsylvania next week He today wrote a letter for publication, taking for his subject the following extract from a notice of Senator Wilson's recent speech near Hampton Roads. He (Wilson) said there would be no impediment to Southern representation in Congress if they elected Union men, and closed his remarks by saying he would leave Virginia with a full conviction that a Republican Governor, Legislature and two Senators would be elected. Stevens comments on this as follows:

"WASHINGTON, April 27.—MR EDITOR: Such articles as this are calculated to do much harm. They throw obstacles in the way of future reconstruction, hence much trouble arises from certain loose and indefinite expressions contained in a bill which was reported by the Reconstruction Committee of the Thirty-ninth Congress. Though never passed, it was perverted by faction and folly in argument against the whole party and Congress. This generally arises from the carelessness of reporters, sometimes from the inadvertance of the speaker. No man should make promises for a party. By what authority does any one say that by the election of loyal delegates they will be admitted? By what authority do they say that Virginia will elect two loyal Senators, while in truth there is no Virginia? Much is to be done by the people and Congress before any Representative or Senator or State can be recognized. Who authorized any orator to say there would be no confiscation? These things are too flippantly said. I think they had better be gravely pondered. Who is authorized to travel over the country and peddle out amnesties. I would say to the most guilty, expect punishment and then quietude; but first confiscation, to pay those who have been robbed by disloyal men. These are my wishes, and mine only, perhaps."

(Signed,) THADDEUS STEVENS.

CHARLESTON, April 27.

General Sickles halted the parade of the Charleston firemen to-day and required them to obtain an American flag and carry it at the head of the column before continuing their demonstration. He also required that a guard of honor be detailed from among the firemen to carry it, and that it should be placed opposite the reviewing personages and respectfully saluted by every fireman raising his cap as he passed. The firemen acquiesced cheerfully, waited for the flag, and after procuring one proceeded with the parade.

A Richmond telegram states that the Legislature adjourns on Monday.

The examining courts of the class which acquitted the negro murderer, Watson, are abolished, and in future magistrates will either discharge or send before the Grand Jury all cases brought before them.

General Schofield has advised the Chief of Police that the street-car difficulty be settled by the Railroad Company running additional cars for the exclusive use of colored people. The General subsequently obtained a copy of the charter of the Company, which has nothing to say about who shall ride in the cars, and he will probably make a decision on Monday in accordance with his advice to the Chief of Police.

Dr. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup.—This great medicine cured Dr Schenck, the Proprietor, of Pulmonary Consumption, when it had assumed its most formidable aspect, and when speedy death appeared to be inevitable. His physicians pronounced his case incurable, when he commenced the use of this simple but powerful remedy. His health was restored in a very short time, and no return of the disease has been apprehended, for all the symptoms quickly disappeared, and his present weight is more than two hundred pounds.

Since his recovery, he has devoted his attention exclusively to the cure of Consumption, and the diseases which are usually complicated with it, and the cures effected by his medicines have been very numerous and truly wonderful. Dr. Schenck makes professional visits to several of the larger cities weekly, where he has a large concourse of patients, and it is truly astonishing to see the poor consumptives that have been lifted out of their carriages, and in a few months healthy, robust persons. DR. SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, SEAWEED TONIC, and MANDRAKE PILLS are generally all required in curing Consumption. Full directions accompany each, so that any one can take them without seeing Dr. Schenck, but when it is convenient it is best to see him. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer his fee is three dollars.

Please observe, when purchasing, that the two likenesses of the Doctor—one when in the last stage of Consumption, and the other as he now is, in perfect health—are on the Government stamp.

Sold by all Druggists and Dealers. Price $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 the half dozen. Letters for advice should always be directed to Dr. Schenck's Principal Office, No. 15 North 6th street, Philadelphia, Pa.

LAST APPEAL.

Call at our store and examine the stock, ask for the prices of goods, and we are confident you will say these goods are sacrificed. Because we have no expenses and buy for Cash and sell and for Cash. Our Cash system will save us from losing bad accounts, and enable us not to tack on to our goods extra per centage for bad accounts. Come one and all, and convince yourself of the facts.

—The Peak Family Bell Ringers give their first entertainment at Corinthian Hall this evening.

—Stein & Phelps are in receipt of the Atlantic, Harper, Godey, and all the magazines for May. Call early.

—The shipments of petroleum over the Oil Creek Railroad from Shaffer on Saturday, reached 612 barrels.

—There needs no ghost, my lord, come from the grave, to tell us that the McFenry House is the place to stop at, in Meadville.

—A regular meeting of Saguwatha Lodge I. O. G. T. will be held this evening. Officers will be elected for the ensuing quarter.

—A Roberts Topedo was recently exploded in the Ralston well, on the Tidioute flats, which increased the production to about 25 barrels per day.

—One of the leading refiners in Pittsburg has invented a new process of refining oil by steam. The operation is said to be speedy, economical, and prevents the possibility of accidents by fire.

—There was a very heavy frost on Saturday night, and ice formed to the depth of nearly half an inch in some localities. It was severe on early vegetation.

—C. C. Wetmore, Esq., who was recently killed at Warren by being thrown from a carriage, was a pioneer projector and constructor of the Oil Creek Railroad.

—Information is wanted to-day of the original consignees of various unclaimed express packages. We are privately assured that they can be had at a considerable reduction in the charges for transportation.

—The well No. 2, on lease No. 5 of the Shoe and Leather Petroleum Company's tract of the Foster Farm, which has been shut down for some time, was recently started up, and it is now pumping about 20 barrels of oil per day.

—The election in New York for delegates to the convention to alter the Constitution of that State having resulted in favor of the Republicans, it is presumed that an amendment conferring unrestricted or impartial suffrage will be passed.

—The people of Oil City purpose to make the question of removing the County Seat from Franklin the issue of the fall campaign in the election of Representatives, and it seems highly probable that their scheme will prove successful.

—A pike weighing thirty-four and a half pounds was caught in the Hartstown Reservoir, near Meadville, last Friday by Mr. Gehr. It measured four feet three inches in length, and when opened two catfish, each about ten inches in length, were found.

—The temperance meeting at Pleasantville on Saturday evening was numerously attended, and was in all respects a gratifying success. Another is to be held at the same place on Saturday evening next, and speakers will be secured for the occasion.

—A lady fainted a few days since in the cars. A medical gentleman present, who went to her relief, exclaimed: "Have any of you gentlemen a flask of whisky or brandy?" Over thirty pocket pistols flashed in the air at once, and the lady was brought to a jilty.

—For swearing in Buffalo any person is liable to a fine of $50 per oath. It seems as though one day's proceeds from the back drivers around the Central depot, ought, if the ordinance is enforced, to meet the running expenses of the city government for a year.

—Mr. John Ponton's pamphlet entitled "a Crisis in the Oil Regions," has been issued and is now ready for delivery. It contains valuable statistical information, and, as he affirms, a perfectly unprejudiced review of the commercial interests of this section. Price, fifty cents per copy.

—An affray occurred at Petroleum Centre on Friday evening between a bus-driver named Dan Webber and a hostler named Jack Owen. Webber fired a revolver at Owen, shooting him through the right hand and also wounding him in the side. The third shot did not take effect. Both men were intoxicated.

Prussia and France.

All the indications are still to the effect that a war will ensue between Prussia and France. The feeling prevailing in both countries of mutual hostility, rivalry, and jealousy, is very similar to what it was just before the memorable outbreak between Napoleon I and the Prussian Monarchy in 1806, which culminated so disastrously to the latter, on the plains of Jena and Austerlitz. Then, as now, Prussia, inflated by the memory and glories of Frederick the Great, was ambitious of measuring swords with the conqueror of Europe. She rushed into the field precipitately, without any ally save Russia, which was too remote to render her any assistance until after the decisive blow was struck.

If war breaks out now, it is possible Prussia will be isolated and without any effective ally. She has aroused the jealousy and fear of all the minor or secondary States of Europe, and France can easily adopt the policy of M. Thiers, and place herself at the head of a confederation such as Holland, Belgium, Switzerland, Denmark, Sweden, Italy and Spain.

Prussia is now, under the guidance of Bismark, what France was under Napoleon I, the disturber, if not the terror of the Continent, and against her, from the beginning, will be the sympathies of the smaller States, who are in danger of being swallowed up by her ambitious rapacity. Her military system is the most grinding and oppressive in the world, and is unpopular even in Germany, where her influence lays. When we consider these elements of weakness, together with the fact that France has what she has not, a powerful navy, and vastly more wealth to carry on a struggle, it is difficult to resist the conclusion that the ambition and presumption of Bismark are greater than the strength at his command, and that in the defiance which he is extending to France, he is tempting Fortune, which has hitherto smiled upon him, further than that fickle goddess will go.

There is no prospect that the action of the Great Powers will go beyond offers of mediation, and the question of peace or war seems to rest with the two rulers. If both shall put forth their strength, it will probably be a more destructive war than was ever before witnessed between two single European nations. Prussia will not lack the same national spirit which characterizes France, when once her slower blood is aroused. Compared with this conflict the war of last summer was mere child's play—Sadowa a mere skirmish, preparatory to the great struggle, in which will be involved the fortunes of ninety millions of people.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—About noon Saturday last, a man named Timothy Connell, was instantly killed by the falling of a portion of the bank at the excavation which is being made for Henry Harley's iron tank at Shaffer. The deceased was from Brooklyn, New York, unmarried, and about twenty-five years old. He was sober and industrious, and well spoken of by those who knew him. His remains are to be interred at Petroleum Centre, Mr. Harley kindly paying all expenses.

A Better Way.

"Strikes" are getting to be if every day occurrence all over the country. They seem to spread like contagion; they are confined to no business or locality. The mines and workshops are not the only sufferers, though the mining and manufacturing interests are, perhaps, the most deeply affected. They stagnate capital, check trade, paralyze industry, and breed a great deal of social distress. They often result in mob violence, and in bloodshed, and they do not accomplish the objects sought. The strikers usually come to the terms of their employers, and surrender at discretion. They leave only ill humor behind them. The remedy for strikes is, on all accounts, therefore, an important question, and among all the suggestions which were read, the remarks of a president of a workingmens' society in New York seem to be most deserving of attention. The New York Evening Post, one of the best authorities of the day, on questions of social and political economy, quotes the remarks of Mr. Farrel with approbation. It says on the subject of co-operation:

We are glad to see that the idea of co-operative enterprises is gaining a foothold among the mechanics of this city who are demanding higher wages. At a meeting of carpenters the other evening Mr. Farrell said:

"If, when the strike was first begun, three months ago, we had to a man contributed the pittance of fifty cents each a week toward establishing a co-operative shop—or if only two thousand of the carpenters of the city had made this trifling gift to the trade—we could have had ready for occupation to-day, and without the loss to ourselves and to the community of three weeks' labor of four hundred men, a large shop which would have rendered us independent of our employers; and one shop thus begun and proving successful—as it must—would be only the pioneer of other and perhaps more extensive enterprises of the kind, which would give us command of the trade."

This is very true; and it suggests a course of action for mechanics in all our great cities, which they ought to follow without delay.

By such co-operation they become their own masters and employers; they cease to be servants; they will be better, more skilful and more faithful workmen under such a system; they will live better; will be more contented and happy; and when once any body of carpenters, burnishers, or other mechanics, is organized in a co-operative enterprise, its members will presently find their advantage in co-operative stores, where they may buy their provisions and clothing for cost and expenses, and save the enormous profits of middlemen; and in co-operative house-building associations, whereby the members may achieve the ownership of their dwelling, and relieve themselves of the high rents and tenement-house life of New York.

"Industrial co operation" is perhaps the only policy or means which can thoroughly reform New York, and make it habitable for decent people of moderate incomes. We hope Mr. Farrel will not let the matter rest, so far as the carpenters are concerned. He spoke of what might have been; but it is not too late; let a beginning be made at once.

HOUSE CLEANING is now the order of the day. Woman is now in her element, and the fewer the callers the better. The "men folks" can lunch "down town," their room being better than their company. The most amiable housewife now wants to be "let alone." She wants no impertinent suggestions from her worthy spouse as to the new arrangements. She will be thankful for black Susan to scrub the floor, to demolish the cobwebs, and for Irish Tom to run on errands. The housewife will be in the best of humor if her "Joe-John" will give her a line of credit at the painters, the paper-hangers, for a breadth of oil cloth, for fancy curtains.—She wants no "odds and ends" from mysterious unclaimed express boxes; she demands everything "spick and span new." The most welcome visitant is now the black whitewasher, or better still, Talamo with his fresco pots, the magic dyes of sunrise or sunset, the cold peaks of the Alps, the German gardener, et cetras. And the yard too, must be raked of its leaves, the garden spaded, shrubbery and shade trees planted, and the gate hung, which the boy in the house has swung on till it hangs down with a moping look. Beware, how you meddle in what is none of your business, ye poor disconsolate ones of the male gender—if you can find nothing in its place, your vest, coat, your new shirt, be thankful if you get any breakfast, a cold dinner, take your tea in the pantry, and sleep anywhere it happens. Woman is more touchy on this thing than any other. Her state of mind in this season, is worse than jealousy or neglect, if you cross her; it is her prerogative to be master of the situation in this matter, and has been from time immemorial. So give her full scope and get out of the way. "For lo! the winter is past, the rain is over and gone, the flowers appear on the earth; the time of the singing of birds has come, and the voice of the turtle is heard in the land," and house cleaning is the order of the day.

THE SALE of unclaimed express packages on Saturday attracted an immense crowd of customers and lookers-on. There was spirited bidding for the most tempting looking parcels, but very few bought to advantage. It was a sort of grab-bag performance, in which the bidder "went it blind" and ascertained the results of his investments with becoming good humor.

One gentleman was put in possession of an oblong box for $9, and its contents consisted of a human skull and cross-bones, and a wooden broad-sword, and other stage trappings, too valueless to mention. Another bidder paid $11 for a quantity of ragged coverlids and bed blankets, worth about two cents per pound. Another paid $6 for a nicely sealed box containing a hospital pump and other implements; $5 bought a quantity of yellow-covered novels and literary newspapers; $5.40, an iron-hooped trunk full of second hand clothing and a brass rimmed watch, from Germany; $1, a box of paper collars; $6, two boxes of pills, to be well taken before shaken; $4, a lot of Heister Clymer's campaign documents, (bought by a stanuch Republican); $3.50 for a whisky keg filled with "Saguwatha"; $1.75, a lot of burnt-cork minstrel fixings; $5, a musty old coat; $11, several gallons of Madeira wine; $25 for a sewing machine; $2 for a live rat, and so on to the end of the chapter. It was a lottery which offered all prizes and no blanks. The Express Company probably "got even" with their delinquent customers for freight charges, and owe a card of thanks to the citizens of Titusville for liberally contributing to that object.

BAD ROADS.—They say that Jordan is a hard road to travel, but Jordan at high water" was not a circumstance, compared with the turnpike from Titusville to Meadville. Its horrors are indescribable after a rain, worse than ever the Plumer or Pithole road, in the good old days of "reinsals," when the United States was spouting her thousands daily. Some parties screwed up their courage to try it the other day, and with the best of teams and carriages broke down four times. If it were not uncharitable, we should like to have Judge Johnson drive over that road. If he did not charge the Grand Jury at the next Court, more savagely on the delinquencies of the supervisors of Oil Creek, Troy, and Mead townships than he did on the Court House question, we are much mistaken. The Judge will deserve the thanks of the community if he will protect the travelling public in this respect. "The country expects every man to do his duty," is a saying that would well apply to this case. These townships elect six men each to do this business What is the matter?

STARTLING FACTS—No SHERIFF YET.—A large stock of Paints and Oils, all paid for, and for sale at lowest cash prices. Pure Oil, Pure Lead, and no "IMITATIONS." TALAMO & DOHERTY.

Pine Street and the Plank Road Company.

Editors Morning Herald:

Your article in relation to the east end of Pine street is somewhat hard on the old Council.—You say that "they were behind the times;" perhaps they were if being without money is behind the times, but my opinion is that to be without money is just up with the times. And that was the fix of the old Borough and also the old City Council. But to the facts as to whom the blame should attach. In the summer of 1865, the Titusville and Pithole Plank Road Company applied to the old Borough Council for permission to lay their plank through the then borough of Titusville, on Pine street from the Oil Creek Railroad to the borough limits, which was granted, with the understanding that they should lay the plank double track and keep the street in repair, which has not been fulfilled on the part of the Plank Road Company.

In 1866, the Titusville and Pithole Plank Road Company made an application to the City Council, after being waited upon by a committee, to ascertain whether they intended to fulfill their part of the contract. Their proposition, after pleading poverty and disappointments in the costs and receipts of their road, was to furnish the plank to lay the road from the Railroad to Church Run Bridge through Pine Street, provide the city would do the labor of laying the plank, grading and ditching the street. The Council did not at that time accept their offer for two reasons, first, that the Company were in honor bound to fulfill their contract, and second, that they were not in possession of the requisite amount of money to do the work. They also thought the Company would fulfill on their part after they found that the Council insisted upon their complying with the contract.

Later in the season, after the Council had been satisfied that the company would not go on and finish up the street, they sent a communication to them accepting the offer, which was declined on the part of the company. The Council then had a survey or profile made of Pine street from Franklin street to the bridge, with the intention of grading and graveling the same, which would have been done last fall had not the weather proved too inclement to do the work.

The Plank Road Company have made a new proposition to the city to furnish the plank for a single track at the railroad at the head of Pine street and lave the plank laid at the expense of the city, which proposition the Council have now under consideration. As to the single plank track, it would cost more to lay that and gravel the balance of the road, than to lay the double plank track.

These, Mr. Editor, are the plain facts in the case. You can see how much blame there is to be attached to the City Council. Also how far they have been behind the times.

Yours truly, H. B. O.

Letter from Erie.

ERIE, April 26, 1867.

Editors Morning Herald:

Since the last snow storm abated we have been looking around and will note you some things we have seen.

The old Mansion House, just south of the depot, is no more. It has been raised and rebuilt, and is being fitted up for stores, dwellings and a picture gallery.

The brick-yard and clay bank belonging to Mr. Goodrich, of South Erie, has been leased to a company who are putting up a new patent steam brick press which is soon to be tested and put into operation. It promises a superior brick, and in quantities to suit purchasers.

Our city has lately been favored with a lecture from Schuyler Colfax, through the auspices of the Whittier Literary Association, which promises to do a good work in cultivating the literary tastes of our people.

We have also been favored with a visit from the Peak and Berger Families, and their entertainments have been thronged by the elite and music-loving of Erie. Their performances are all of the highest order, and elicited throughout rounds of applause.

We have omitted to mention the new drug store of S. B. Barnum, and the new tin and stove store of W. G. Gardner, which are really acquisition to that part of the city, and in fact to the whole city. FEDERAL HILL.

"HORACE," in his last letter from Harrisburg to the Chambersburg Repository, thinks "there ought to be serenity and harmony in Republican counsels in this State this summer," for reasons which he gives in the following extract:

"I don't see who is to interpose to make differences in the party. Governor Curtin has gone across the ocean, and is now ruminating in Rome, and will spend a part of the summer in Paris. Colonel Forney is about to follow him abroad, and remain away until fall. Thad. Stevens is sick and will devote the season to quiet and I fear a fruitless search for his old-time vigor. McClure is about to pack his carpet-bag and wend his way to the Rocky Mountains, to read Hiawatha, I presume, to the bronzed daughters of the forest. Grow is running oil and railroads up in Venango. None of these earnest protestants against the action of the last Legislature can be active participants in shaping the policy and arranging the organization of the party this year, and the machine will have to be run without them. I doubt not that all of them have abited none of their interest in Republican success, but they are taking a good rest preparatory to the great struggle of 1868. About that time look out for gales from the rejected material of 1867."

KEROSENE.—The following should be published at least once a week: "Many persons who use kerosene or coal oil lamps, are in the habit, when going to bed leaving the room for a time, of turning the wick down low, in order to save a trifle of the consumption of oil. The consequence is that the air of the room soon becomes vitiated by the unconsumed oil, vapors of the gas produced by combustion, and also by the minute particles of smoke and soot which are thrown off. Air thus poisoned is deadly its effects, and the wonder is that more persons are not immediately and fatally injured by breathing it. Irritation and inflammation of the throat and lungs headache, dizziness and nausea are among its effects."

SWISS BELL RINGERS.—We notice in the papers of the different places where the Peak and Berger Families have given entertainments that their houses are generally crowded. There are now seventeen performers with the troupe. Those who have heretofore been delighted with the performance of one family, can well imagine the increased effect and attraction when augmented by the combination of the Peaks and Bergers. The Silver Cornet Band produce melody as rare and rich as the silver bells. They are announced to appear in Corinthian Hall to night and tomorrow night.

INCOME RETURNS.—Attend to the payment of your income tax. If the payment is not made prior to the 1st of May, 50 per cent. is added.—Those who have received schedules, and whose income does not reach the amount exempted by law, must also make returns of them, as none are sent except to those whom the collectors presume to be liable, and upon all that are not returned, they have the arbitrary power of assessing to the best of their information, much of which must necessarily be supposition. From this assessment there is no appeal.

JAMES RICE will sell at public auction the farm known as the "Southworth Farm," at Centreville, at 4 o'clock this p m. Also, at his auction store in Titusville, on Tuesday, at 1 o'clock p. m., a quantity of ladies' summer cloaks, gent's cloaks, hats, caps, hosiery, &c., &c., and about half a dozen water coolers and filters.

Female Independence.

For the Morning Herald.

Our minds have been latched of late
With visions grand and rare,
As we have watched the female world
And what they do and dare.
And so inspired with lofty zeal
We've thought that we would try
And show our independence, too,
Unchecked by man's proud eye.
A kind and valued friend we have
Who lives some miles away,
And so we thought we'd visit her,
And with her spend the day.
There was a little wagon, which,
Though without top or spring,
We thought would do to take us up
And would be "just the thing."
And then there was the old horse, Kit,
So gentle and so kind,
Her we could drive without a fear
And easy make her mind.
So, this arranged, we flew away
Our toilets to prepare:
We bathed, and brushed, and hooked and pinned,
And combed and curled our hair.
Flowers and ribbons bright we wore,
And muslin dresses too,
All starched and ironed just as smooth
As laundry maid could do;
And hats with feathers floating high
We placed upon our head,
And graceful mantles, thin and cool,
Around our shoulders spread.
And then "quite charming" down we came
With satchel, box and fan,
(And with some extra bundles, which
We carried in our hand;)
And stowing them all safe away
We brought the tiny chaise,
And settling it behind the seat
Placed little Blonde there.
And when, all ready, oh! how fast
And proud our pulses ran,
To think we'd fixed all things, without
The aid or help of man.
And bidding servants, old and young,
Their duties each attend,
We said, good-by and started off
To see our honored friend.
But first we thought that we would make
A call at Fallston town,
And sitting in our open chaise
We drove serenely down.
The morn was bright, nor did we note
Dark clouds were gathering round;
But listening to the song birds thrill—
We caught no other sound.
We praised the easy, gentle colt
Our aged assumed, and said:
If we had taught her, she could not
Have been more perfect bred.
And so in pleasant converse thus
We reached the Fallston store,
And wearing an important face
We stopped before the door.
And still, for all our boasted strength,
We felt a great relief,
Aw—"let me help you ladies"—said
A voice politely brief.
And instantly a gentleman
Most kindly helped us out;
Took up the reins, spoke to the horse
And turned her head about,
And driving under shelter, that
Most happily was near,
In answer to our question said:
"There will be rain, I fear."
In consternation, wild, we raised
Our eyes up to the sky,
And lo! the threatening clouds hung black;
A storm was surely nigh.
In dire dismay we entered in
Our purchases to make,
In hopes we might reach home again
Before it was too late.
But rain, alas! the drops came down,
Each one fell on our heart;
In mournful silence long we stood,
Uncertain when to start.
But fast and faster came the rain;
Our fears we could not hide—
Through wind and storm home we must go.
Ah! where was now our pride?
A "Freedmen's Bureau" subject stood
Near us, and our ire
We mastered, as we quavered out,
"Our chaise, sir, we desire."
He quickly brought it to the door
And held the horse's head,
While we, alone, each clambered in
With cheeks dyed crimson red;
And while, to tuck the shawls around
We eagerly were bent,
Old Kit, impatient, broke away
And up the road she went.
Lor sped the tires and held them firm
With terror almost wild,
While my poor friend essayed in vain
To soothe the frightened child.
At last, through many jerks, the small
Umbrella high was raised,
And people, as we passed along,
Looked at us, sore amazed.
But still we tried to laugh, and say:
"It might have been much worse.
The horse too really wakened now
And hastened up her pace."
But scarce the words had left our lips
When suddenly she stopped,
And then into the gentle gait
That we had praised, she dropped.
We coaxed her on, but all in vain,
And then the whip we got,
And frantically we used it, but
She would not mend her trot.
So, scarcely moving, on we went,
Our muslins limp and wet,
Our ribbons streaming in the wind,
Our teeth most firmly set,
Our flowers withered, feathers spoiled,
And pride, oh! where was it?
"Ask of the wind and rain," for they
Must know its depos-it.

* * * * * * *

Yes! this is "independence" that
The ladies talk about,
And having tried it, we agree
We'd rather do without.
And we are both inclined to think
Should others try it too,
They'd soon admit little rhyme contains
Remarks both wise and true—
As we inform them that the men
Though nuisances sometimes,
Are still essential ones in vain
And when we want the dimes.
And from this little episode
Of ours, we greatly fear
Our "female independence" will
Forever end just here. M.

American Hotel—To the Public.—I take pleasure in announcing that on the 8th of April I reopened the American Hotel and resumed its management in person. The house is thoroughly refitted and put in good order to accomodate in the best manner, those who may give it their patronage. If it has been my good fortune from long experience and care to be considered generally successful in the effort to give satisfaction, I would say that my exertions for that purpose shall be doubled and that all my old friends, who, knowing me well, and as many new ones as may see fit to come, can find a good stopping place in Titusville at the "American" with S. M. MILLS.

PETROLEUM MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE MORNING HERALD, TITUSVILLE, April 27, 1867.

The Petroleum market is quiet and without change. The quiet state of the market to-day was mainly caused by a comparative scarcity of oil. The large amounts which have changed hands during the last two days having in many instances emptied the tanks of the producers. The inquiry to-day was moderate and mostly for the Cleveland market. On Pioneer Run offers were made of $2.00 for 48 gr. oil at the wells. On Church Run oil of 45 gr. is held at $2.20 at the wells. On the Stevenson Farm oil of 48 gr. is held at $2.25 at the wells. Pithole oil of 47 gr. is held at $2.42 delivered on the cars at Titusville. The sales are 200 barrels by the working interest of the Shoe and Leather Petroleum Company's tract of the Foster Farm, for the New York market, 48 gr., at $2.05 at the wells; 250 barrels on Pioneer Run, for the Cleveland market on private terms

Ex-President Buchanan is estimated to be worth $200,000.

French gives the following substitute for profane swearing, adapted to various sorts and conditions of men: Lawyer—Tax my bill. Doctor—Dash my Draughts. Soldier—Snap my stock. Bricklayer—I'll be plastered. Bricklayers' laborer—Chop my hod. Carpenter—Saw me. Plumber and glazier—Solder my pipes; smash my pane. Painter—I'm daubed. Engineer—Burst my boiler. Dramatic author—Steal my French dictionary. Actor—I'll be hissed. Tailor—Cut me out; cook my goose. Linen-draper—Soil my silks; sell me off. Grocer—Squash my figs; sand my sugar; seize my scales. Baker—Knead my dough; scorch my muffins. Auctioneer—Knock me down. To which we add: Editor—Smash my paste-pot; blunt my scissors.

One of the Boston banks has for some time occupied a room over its banking house for the storage of its old record books, &c. There was also stored in the same room a valuable library of some two thousand volumes, belonging to a gentleman now in Europe, this being supposed a safe place of deposit. Recently the discovery was made that the leaves had been cut out of these old ledgers and day-books, though the covers were found standing in their former positions, and to a casual observer seemed to be all right. The "insides" of the volumes in the gentleman's library have also been removed in the same manner. It is supposed that the removed leaves have found their way into the collections of rag-dealers and thence to the paper mills.

FISK & HATCH,

BANKERS,

AND DEALERS IN

Government and other Desirable Securities,

NO. 5 NASSAU STREET, N. Y.,

recommend to Investors the

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS

OF THE

Central Pacific R. R. Co.

This Company is constructing under the patronage of the

United States Government

the Western end of the Great National Railway across the Continent.

Their line will extend from Sacramento, California, across the Sierra Nevadas to the California State line, traversing the RICHEST AND MOST POPULOUS SECTION OF CALIFORNIA, and thence through the GREAT MINING REGIONS OF THE TERRITORIES, to the vicinity of Salt Lake City.

It forms the SOLE WESTERN LINK of the only route to the Pacific which is adopted by Congress and aided by the issue of UNITED STATES BONDS.

Their road is already completed, equipped and running for 94 miles from Sacramento to within 12 miles of the summit of the Sierras, and a large amount of the work of Grading, Tunnelling, &c., beyond that point has been accomplished.

The FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS of this Company afford unusual inducements of Safety and Profit to Investors, for the following among other reasons, viz:

First. The rate of interest is SIX PER CENT. IN GOLD, payable semi-annually in the City of New York.

Second. The PRINCIPAL is payable in GOLD at maturity.

Third. The cost of the Bonds, NINETY-FIVE PER CENT. and accrued interest, is TEN PER CENT. less than that of the cheapest Six Per Cent. Gold Bearing Bonds of the Government.

Fourth. The UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT PROVIDES NEARLY HALF THE AMOUNT NECESSARY TO BUILD THE ENTIRE ROAD, AND LOOKS MAINLY TO A SMALL PERCENTAGE ON THE FUTURE TRAFFIC FOR RE-PAYMENT.

Fifth. Owing to this liberal provision, accompanied with EXTENSIVE GRANTS OF PUBLIC LANDS, by which the Government fosters this great national enterprise, ITS SUCCESS IS ASSURED CERTAIN, AND ITS FINANCIAL STABILITY IS ALTOGETHER INDEPENDENT OF THE CONTINGENCIES WHICH ATTEND ORDINARY RAILROAD ENTERPRISES.

Sixth. The Security of its FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS is therefore AMPLE, and their character for safety and reliability is equalled only by that of the obligations of the GOVERNMENT itself.

Seventh. The net earnings of the completed portion are ALREADY LARGELY IN EXCESS OF THE INTEREST OBLIGATIONS WHICH THE COMPANY WILL INCUR ON TWIXT THE DISTANCE, and are steadily increasing, rendering the UNINTERRUPTED PAYMENT OF THE INTEREST ABSOLUTELY CERTAIN.

Eighth. At the present rate of Gold they pay nearly 8½ Per Cent. per annum, on the amount invested.

The Bonds are issued in denominations of $1,000 with semi-annually Gold Coupons attached, payable in New York, and are offered for the present at 95 per cent. and accrued interest (in currency) from January first.

Orders may be forwarded to us direct, or through the principal Banks and Bankers in all parts of the country.

Remittances may be made in drafts on New York, or in Legal Tender Notes, National Bank Notes, or other funds current in this city, and the Bonds will be forwarded to any address by Express, free of charge. Inquiries for further particulars, by mail or otherwise, will receive punctual attendance.
